Electronic Signatures for Manufacturing

Keep all your documents and records together and secure!

Manufacturing isn't just a matter of producing and making, but also tracking orders and products to keep to a schedule!

Good manufacturing practice means that documentation and records need to be shipshape. It's hugely time consuming.

With Signable software, you can sign quickly and securely, keeping everything that happens traceable, visible, and instantly accessible.

What does the law say?

Fit for use!

eSignatures are legally binding and more businesses than ever in the manufacturing sector have been incorporating them into their document processes.

The manufacturing industry can feel comfortable to use eSignatures and enjoy the benefits that come with eSigning with Signable.

You can find out more details on eSignatures by reading the Law Society's practice note found here.

How do eSigantures help?

Faster turn around time

It's critical in manufacturing to have contracts completed quickly and efficiently. With eSignatures documents can be signed anywhere, at any time. You can reduce turn around time around 80% quicker on average! This means less time spent on admin and more time available to keep projects on schedule.

Cost effective

eSignature software cuts down about 70% of the cost of paper, material, admin and travel expenses for contract and document sharing. Not just that, but the time and people spent on turning around a contract costs money.
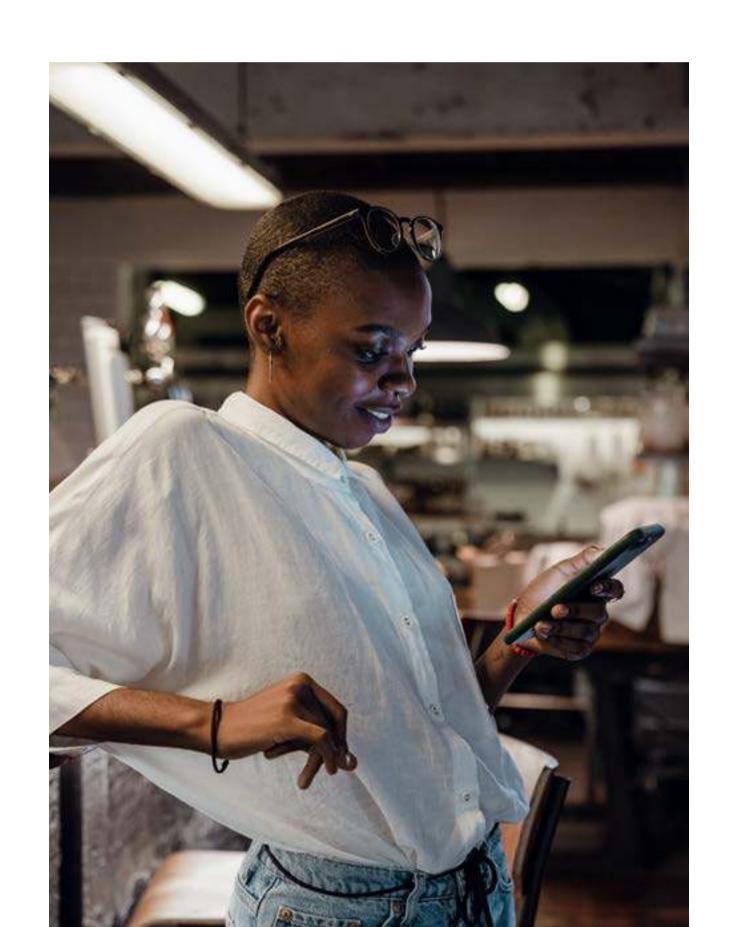

Protect your documents

It's important to keep your recipes in-house. Signable makes security a top priority, so sensitive and private information are protected and sent to the right person. In fact, we use SSL Encryption, and IP and Geo Tracking to ensure they are secure.

Store them securely

No more filing, no more lost papers. Signable keeps an online audit trail of every single document, we call 'envelopes', that you send out. We store everything in the cloud system for you search, view, and download from anywhere, and on any device. You can always retrace your steps!
