So, how do eSignatures help?

- Unique deal terms

Each sale means drafting a contract tailored to each client. This means including their unique price, dates and names. Amending these details for each template can get tedious, so our merge fields feature comes in handy! As these variables can all be added at the point of sending - saving you time and a headache!

- Ease of account opening

Simplifying the account opening process for customers takes the workload off your employees. It also reduces the number of errors and removes the risk of loss of documents. Meaning team members can spend more time supporting and advising customers. Increasing your level of customer service.

- Improve visibility

Signable's dashboard shows which documents have been sent, along with their status. This means that at a glance, staff can see if a contract has been signed off or not. And if not, the audit trail will highlight when the signer has accessed the document and how many times.

- Keep your work mobile

Many sales agents or account managers frequently find themselves out of the office, visiting potential and current customers. By storing all your documents in your Signable account, not only does this free space up in the office, but it also keeps info accessible wherever you are, at any time of day.
